REPUBLICAN city convention tonight.

THERE will be a good turnout of lady spectators at the Republican city convention this evening.

DELEGATES to the Republican city convention should remember that the convention meets at the Court House at 7:30 tonight.

TWO FARMERS and one lawyer are the nominees of the Republican party to represent the great agricultural county of Maricopa in the Constitutional Convention.

OUR morning contemporary says Alexander's resolution in the convention of Saturday, opposing any submission of a test oath in the Constitution, was unanimously adopted. Such is not the fact. The resolution was indefinitely postponed, as was every other one introduced. Why not be honest about it?

L. C. HUGHES, of the Tucson Star, has been sued for libel on two complaints, aggregating $100,000. Go on, Brother Hughes, you're doing nobly. Libel suits are good for you or any one who is in the right, as you unquestionably are in the Walker case. We've been there on the libel business and you have our congratulations.

Bourbon organs that have had so much to say about "Grandfather's hat" should take note of President Harrison's speeches, and they will learn that there is a head inside of the hat that requires no encyclopedias. The sound sense, excellent judgment, eloquent periods and patriotic sentiments of the President's speeches have been excelled by none of his predecessors.

WHEN Lieutenant Powhatan H. Clarke, says the New York Sun, joins the Emperor William's Hussars, the Germans will make the acquaintance of a true soldier. We have had at least one officer over there who could not ride a horse, but Lieutenant Clarke can ride like the Apaches, to whose minds he is a terror incarnate. He is a rugged, brave, battle-scarred fellow—a soldier every inch.

SAYS the Prescott Journal-Miner: "Farmers in the more favored valleys of northern Arizona should experiment in a small way with sugar beets." It seems as if the parties entrusted with the expenditures of the appropriation for experimental stations in Arizona will do nothing for this portion of it, so that farmers will be left to do their own experimenting. Experiments in a small way will, the culture of beets may demonstrate the feasibility and profit of their culture."

A TRIFLE abashed at its work for the past few years, the old Democratic ring of the city and county ordered a change of tactics yesterday by nominating Judge Joe Campbell for Mayor of Phoenix. Personally Judge Campbell is deserving of our highest consideration, but politically he, this time, is like old dog tray—in bad company—and he must not blame his friends if he receives punishment, which will be sure to be meted out to him. It is a rule of rings or political bosses to at times assume an air of decency by putting forward an honest man whom they have time and again politically knifed, and attempt to use him to pull their chestnuts out of the fire. Such is the case in this instance, but it will hardly succeed. Their record in the administration of the affairs of this city the past year is too bad, and even with so good a man as Joe Campbell pushed forward as a shield for the gang that stands behind him, the people will say nay. The past year's experience has been sufficient; they want a change.

YESTERDAY'S NOMINEES.

The nominations made by the Republican County Central Committee yesterday for candidates for the Constitutional Convention are such as will commend themselves to every intelligent voter.

Judge C. F. Ainsworth is one of the ablest members of the bar, not only in Maricopa county but in the Territory. He is studious, painstaking and careful in all his work. A man of recognized ability, he would be a credit to the county as one of its representatives in the convention.

J. H. Broome is one of the progressive farmers of the county, a man of learning and a deep thinker. He is a member of the Farmers' Alliance, and is recognized by his brother members of the Alliance as a man of superior attainments.

Hon. J. M. W. Moore is a man well known throughout the whole Territory. He was a member of the Fifteenth Council from Yavapai county and proved himself a most efficient and useful legislator. Having extensive landed interests under the Highland canal, he several months ago removed to his ranch there, where he now resides. Mr. Moore was the unanimous choice of the delegates from the south side.

Altogether, the nominations are very strong ones, and each and all will pull far more than the party vote.

THE Republican party, particularly in the Eastern States, will do well to heed the advice of General Clarkson and utilize young men. There is too much of a tendency in the party in many localities to live upon the old traditions and old record of the party and adhere to its old leaders of a quarter of a century ago. The Republican party, when it nominated Lincoln, was made up principally of young men, and it was still its young men that gave it such great strength in 1872. Again were the young men enthused in 1880 and in 1888, and the result was glorious victories. In Massachusetts, to which General Clarkson particularly referred, the young men have been snubbed and held back in order that honors could be given exclusively to those who had been reaping party rewards for a quarter of a century, until many bright young men were driven from the party. Happily in the West young men are given proper recognition and the result is that the party is filled with energetic, progressive workers who attain victory. The Republican party must always be the party for young men.

REPUBLICANS will dominate the winning city ticket tonight.

Prescott Pickings.

From the Journal-Miner.

Rev. C. A. Rice, of the Baptist church, is a worker with his hands as well as with his mind. He has recently built an addition to the church building here.

Orders have been issued for all troops now at Camp Verde to be withdrawn from there April 25, when the reservation will be turned over to an agent of the Interior Department.

With the $30 per month allowed by the Territory for the expense of the Territorial militia, and with the prospect of winning the $500 prize at the New Mexico Territorial fair next fall, the Prescott company should be stimulated to activity again.

W. H. Ferguson and his son, Gilbert, came in from the Hassayampa last night, where they have been engaged working the Gold Leaf mine. They took nine tons of ore to Dr. Hunter's mill, as an experiment, and it proves a success. They will continue to take out ore and have it worked there.

FOR SOME TIME A GREAT WANT HAS been felt by the orange grower of Southern California for a fertilizer adapted to this fruit.

We have been successful in finding just the kind, and now offer to the orange grower our "Orange Tree Fertilizer." It is an article thoroughly adapted to this tree, consisting of bone, potash, phosphoric acid, ammonia and other ingredients, and is a complete manure for growing trees, from time of setting out to full maturity. Growers will not work where this fertilizer is used, on account of their distaste for the phosphoric acid, which is very helpful to the tree—either orange or lemon. In the growing of other citrus or deciduous fruits in California the use of superphosphates, according to Prof. Hilgard, will be found much better adapted to the purpose than either barnyard or stable manure, in that they contain the necessary constituents of which the soil has been deprived by its long continuance in the cultivation of such crops. In setting out trees, one pound per tree should be used, thoroughly mixed with the soil before irrigating. The quantity used on old trees according to the age of the tree—tree 5 years old, 5 pounds; 10 years old, 10 pounds. If the trees are 20 feet apart or more, and the soil be very poor, a greater quantity may be used to good advantage. The fertilizer may be applied at any time before a rain or irrigating. Price, $30 per ton.
